PREFACE

THE auction season of 1928-1929 was notable because it included the Kern sale. But even if the Kern sale had not taken place during this period, the season would have been of more than passing interest, for it recorded more new high prices than any other season, either in England or in America. High prices and price records in first editions, association items, manuscripts and letters of 19th and 20th century British and American authors, in Americana, in sporting books, in books of every description were usual, if at times almost fantastic. In no field of collecting was there any downward trend; and, by this season at least, those who preach book collecting (even the collecting of modern firsts) as an investment seem to be justified.

"The event of the year at the Anderson Galleries was the sale of the Jerome Kern collection, which took place in ten sessions on January 7 to 10 and 21 to 24 inclusive, and brought $1,729,462.50. The famous Hoe library, sold in two seasons, in 1911 and 1912, required seventy-nine sessions to disperse, and brought $1,932,056.60. The average per session in the Hoe sale was $24,456.20; in the Kern sale, $172,946.25. The average price of the 14,588 items in the Hoe sale was $125.58; that of the 1,482 items in the Kern sale, $1,166.96. The highest priced Hoe item was the magnificent illuminated vellum copy of the Gutenberg Bible, the first book printed from movable type, which brought $50,000; the highest priced Kern item was Shelley's own copy, with author's changes, of the first edition of "Queen Mab," which fetched $68,000 (and cost $6,000 in 1920 in the Buxton Forman sale). In considering these comparisons it should be remembered that the Hoe library held the world record for more than a decade as the most valuable collection ever sold at auction, and that the sale influenced the value of books profoundly all over the world.

"The character of the two collections was radically different. The Hoe library included a wide range of the world's greatest books from the dawn of printing to our own times, many in the finest bindings of master binders of the nineteenth century. The Kern library was composed largely of eighteenth and nineteenth century first editions of American and English authors, many with association interest, presentation copies, and fine author's letters and manuscripts. . . . The fifteen Hoe manuscripts and first editions (that fetched $10,000 or more) brought $308,850; and nineteen Kern manuscripts (of the same price class), $377,500. This comparison makes a striking demonstration of the interest in the manuscripts and first editions of comparatively modern English authors in this country. Herein is the chief significance of the memorable season of 1928-29." The Publishers' Weekly, November 16, 1929.

It has been said that the prices paid in the Kern sale were freak prices, and in a sense they were, for it was the unparalleled association interest of the items that made the prices soar. An autograph presentation copy of the first edition of Hardy's "The Well-Beloved" fetched $1,200 and another copy not inscribed, $15. If it had not been for this association interest of many of the items, the sale might have been reckoned in hundreds; but the association interest was there, a letter or a few pages of manuscript laid in, an inscription or corrections by the author, and the sale was reckoned in thousands. The value of an association item is not subject to accurate appraisal: it is the value of sentiment. And in this sense, but in this sense only, was the Kern sale a freak sale. The prices were high, many of them were record breaking, but they were current market prices. Whitman's "Leaves of Grass," first issue of the first edition, 1855, brought $3,400; within a fortnight two identical copies had brought $3,450 and $3,300.

It is somewhat difficult to choose any particular items for mention within the limits of this preface. It will be seen from the text of this volume that thousands of books, autographs, manuscripts changed hands at auction during the period which it covers. As an index to the season, however, some of the high spots from the Kern sale are appended: Austen, "Sense and Sensibility," 1811, $3,600; Blackmore, "Lorna Doone," 1869, $2,400; Boswell, "The Life of Samuel Johnson, 1791 (autograph letters of Johnson and Boswell laid in), $5,250; Brontë, "Jane Eyre," 1847, $3,600; Browning (E. B.), "The Battle of Marathon," 1820 (presentation copy with letters of the author and Robert Browning laid in), $17,500; Browning (Robert), "Pauline," 1833, $16,000; Burns, "Poems, Chiefly in the Scottish Dialect," 1793 (presentation copy), $23,500; Burton (R. F.), "The Kasidah," 1880, $1,000; Byron, Original manuscript of "Marino Faliero, Doge of Venice," $27,000; Carlyle, "Sartor Resartus," 1834 (presentation copy), $3,500; Carroll (Lewis), "Alice's Adventures in Wonderland," 1865, $10,000; Conrad, Original manuscript of "Under Western Eyes," $7,250; Defoe, "Robinson Crusoe," 1719-19-20, $11,500; Dickens, "The Strange Gentleman," 1837 (original drawing of frontispiece by "Phiz" laid in), $10,500; Dickens, "A Tale of Two Cities," 1859 (presentation copy), $10,250; Fitzgerald, "Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam," 1859 (correction by the author), $8,000; Gibbon, "Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire," 1776-88, $3,900; Goldsmith, "The Vicar of Wakefield," 1766 (the only known presentation copy), $6,600; Gray (Thomas), "An Elegy Wrote in a Country Church Yard," 1751, $12,000; Hardy, "Desperate Remedies," 1871, $4,800; Hardy, "Jude the Obscure," 1903 (inscribed copy), $4,100; Hawthorne, "Fanshawe," 1828, $4,750; Hawthorne, "The Scarlet Letter," 1850 (document signed by the author laid in) $1,125; Johnson (Samuel), A leaf from the original manuscript of the "Dictionary of the English Language," $11,000; Johnson (Samuel), "The Prince of Abissinia," 1759, (author's own copy) $5,800; Keats, "Poems," 1817, $3,500; Keats, "Poetical Works," 1854, (22 lines of manuscript laid in) $17,000; Kipling, "Schoolboy Lyrics," 1881, $4,000; Kipling, "Life's Handicap," 1891, (presentation copy with two verses from "Barrack Room Ballads") $6,250; Lamb, "Poetry for Children," $8,500; Milton, "Poems," 1645, $6,750; Poe, A. L. S. quoting Mrs. Browning's opinion of "The Raven," $19,500; Pope, "Poems," 1717, (presentation copy with corrections by the author) $5,500; Richardson (Samuel), "Pamela," 1741-2, $4,000; Scott (Walter), "Waverley," 1814, $4,400; Shakespeare, "Poems," 1640, $8,500; Shakespeare, Second Folio, 1632, $5,700; Shakespeare; Third Folio, first issue, 1664, $8,000; Shakespeare, Third Folio, second issue, $15,500; Shelley, "Adonais," 1821, $6,000; Smollett, "Humphrey Clinker," 1771, $6,200; Spenser, "The Faerie Queen," 1590-96, $3,500; Sterne, "Tristram Shandy," 1760-67, $12,500; Stevenson, "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," 1886, (presentation copy) $3,600; Swift, "Gulliver's Travels," 1726, $17,000; Tennyson, "The Lover's Tale," 1833, $4,500; Thackeray, "Vanity Fair," 1847-48, $7,500.

In this connection it must be remembered that the idiosyncrasies of each copy are most important in determining the price it brings at auction. This compilation serves as an index to current market values but it must be used with discrimination. Naturally the price of a unique copy is no criterion whatever, and many of the Kern copies were unique.

Among the many other sales deserving of special mention were: Selections from the libraries of Sterling T. Foote, the late John Burton Foley, and others; The Library of Norman James: Natural History, Americana, Sport; First editions, Inscribed Copies and Autograph Letters of Joseph Conrad, property of Mrs. Ford Madox Hueffer, an important Kipling collection, the fine Poe collection of Mr. Joseph Jackson, and material from other sources; Autographs, Rare Books, and Historical Documents: George W. Childs et al.; Rare Books, Manuscripts, and Autograph Letters, including the Walt Whitman collection of Bayard Wyman, and autograph letters by Bernard Shaw and John Galsworthy; Important Historic and Literary Collection, including Washington Letters and other rare Americana and a notable group of Whitman MSS. and First Editions, the property of William W. Cohen; The Library of the late Raymond J. Schweizer; First Editions, Letters, and MSS. of Barrie, Dickens, Galsworthy, Shaw, Trollope, and others from the library of Thomas Hatton; The Renowned Collection of the Works of Charles Dickens formed by Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Daoust.

As this volume may come into the hands of some persons not familiar with the publication, the following explanation of its scheme is reprinted from earlier issues.

The name of the author, or the main heading, is set in bold-face capitals. As a rule, Club and Press publications are listed under the name of the club or press in question; and a few other books, such as anonymous histories and biographies, are given subject entries. In the present issue, four new headings are introduced—ASHENDENE PRESS, GOLDEN COCKEREL PRESS, NONESUCH PRESS and RICCARDI PRESS.

The titles of various works under these main entries are printed in bold-face type, capitals and lower case. The subsequent matter, the description, printed in light-face type, is in two portions, the first, including the imprint—place, printer, date—and size of volume, is general and applies to all copies of the work listed.

The second portion of the description, applying specifically to the copy of the book sold (each lot beginning a new line), is made up as follows: (1) a description of the binding; (2) a statement as to the condition of this copy—if on large paper, with extra plates inserted, from a famous library, etc.; (3) capital (key) letter, referring to the Chronological List of Sales at the beginning of this volume and indicating the name and date of the sale; (4) the lot number of the sale catalogue; (5) the price realized, that is, the price per lot and not per volume.
